

SCAFFOLDING & PERSONNEL PROTECTION SAFETY SYSTEMS.

Reducing the risk of impact related incidents & injuries

When she introduced Scaffpad in 2000 Managing Director Michelle Sey single-handedly overcame the hazards posed by protruding scaffolding joints.

Scaffpad is superior in every way to makeshift set-ups using rags and tape. The company has gone from strength to strength working alongside clients to adapt and meet their ever-changing needs. Following continued growth and success within the North Sea offshore market we've enjoyed expansion into the Dutch offshore sector and the UK construction industry. A combination of commitment to client satisfaction and worksite safety has ensured our products are used and trusted by many high profile companies and industry leaders.

HELPING YOU CREATE SAFER WORK ENVIRONMENTS.

Easy to install safety and protection products

Scaffpad is a range of extremely resilient and hard-wearing products ideally suited for use in the construction and building industries.

In 2013/14 an estimated 592,000 working days were lost to workplace injury (Source HSE). The risks of potential injury to employees and members of the public can be significantly reduced by the deployment of the Scaffpad protection system.

Scaffpads are available in high-visibility orange across three sizes with the option of a reflective finish. Re-usable and easily re-applied Scaffpads are an ideal solution for providing on-going protection in changing structural situations.

Industry applications

The Scaffpad has been specifically designed to provide protection and withstand the elements. The pads are a quick, easy, durable and cost-effective solution anywhere protruding hazards present a risk.

Offshore

Constructed to withstand the harsh environments often encountered offshore, Scaffpads are lightweight and quick and easy to install. For over a decade they have been employed on rigs and platforms in the North Sea, not only to protect personnel, but also to shield valves, pipework and equipment. Versatile and re-usable they can be easily re-applied when changes in scaffolding or structures are required.

Other applications

Scaffpad can have novel applications too. Here Semmy Schilt, multi kickboxing champion, demonstrates how he has put Scaffpads to excellent use in his Fight Game Academy.

AWARD WINNING INNOVATION IN SAFETY.

Scaffpad won the Award for Innovation in Offshore Scaffolding Safety in the 2015 AI Offshore Excellence Awards

After fourteen years of continual business development it felt good to be recognised by our peers.

To be rewarded again later in the year by the wider business community was also a great boost. Scaffpad Europe has been awarded Health and Safety Company of the Year (Offshore) in the ACQ Global Awards 2015.

But we don't rest on our laurels. Over the past 24 months Michelle has been designing, developing and refining a new product which will bring all the safety benefits associated with Scaffpad to a whole new audience in a completely new business arena. The new product benefits from enhanced features and we are delighted to be able to offer it on a rental basis to guarantee maximum flexibility for clients.
